

CalARVC's Government Affairs Program

A strong political action committee is just one piece of an effective legislative program. For an association to have a legislative program that works, four elements need to be in place and functioning properly.

First, the association must have a well-known lobbyist that can get the attention of law makers. Our representatives from Edelstein, Gilbert, Smith & Robson are several of the most respected lobbyists working out of Sacramento.

Second, the association must have an active & responsive grass roots lobbying program. CalARVC often sends electronic & mailed Legislative Alerts. CalARVC members are well known for timely and overwhelming response to these requests.

Third, the association must have a Government Affairs Program that gets the job done. Since its inception in 1975, CalARVC has had an active and successful legislative agenda. Laws and regulations affected by CalARVC's activities include the RV Park Occupancy Law, legalization of Camping Cabins and Park Trailers according to California regulations, time-stay regulations, and more.

Finally, the association must have a dynamic political action committee that can be counted on to make donations to current and future law makers that support the basic business philosophy of the association. Since 1983, REC PAC has been doing just that. But, to continue to be a strong presence in Sacramento, REC PAC needs your contributions.

Do you believe that having good legislators in Sacramento affects your business? If so, then you need to donate to REC PAC.

Recreation Political Action Committee

REC PAC was formed in 1983 to help support the election of legislators. This political action committees (PAC) is sponsored by the California Assn of RV Parks & Campgrounds and complies with the California Fair Political Practices Commission. It functions within the scope of California state and local issues only.

REC PAC receives and combines voluntary contributions from individuals with an interest in the RV park industry. By combining individual contributions, dollars are leveraged for a more significant impact.

Board of Trustees

The Board of Trustees are either park operators and owners just like yourself or active members of the RV Park and Campground Industry lending their special expertise to the PAC. They review requests from candidates and CalARVC's Lobbyist, allocating funds at their discretion. They welcome input from PAC members (contributors in each calendar year). Trustees are elected annually in conjunction with CalARVC's conference.
